Naples, May 7. N. S.

WE are told by the last Letters from Messina, that the Popes Galleys are daily expected there, as likewise those of Malta, who will proceed together, to join the Venetian Fleet in the Levant.

Dantzicke, May 27. The last Letters from Warsaw, dated the 21th of this month, say, the Dyet had not yet made choice of their Marshal or Speaker; In the mean time the Gentry arrived from all Parts; and there was like to be a very great appearance at the Election. The Confederated Forces in Poland are, according to these Advices, all separated, and marched to the Quarters appointed them by the Crown General; Who after having received publickly at Lemberg the Submission of their Principal Officers, is returned to Warsaw, and does greatly support the Interest of Prince James; The French Ambassador and those of his Party continue their Endeavours on behalf of the Prince of Conti; and Parties are likewise making for the other Princes who pretend to the Crown; and 'tis believed 'twill be yet a fortnight or 3 weeks before the Election is over.

Vienna, May 25. The Imperial Court continues at Luxemburg; and the young Duke of Lorrain is gone thither to take his Leave of the Emperor, intending to part from this place in the beginning of the next week, in order to pass the Campagne in the Confederated Army commanded by Prince Lewis of Baden. 'Tis believed the next Letters from Hungary will tell us, that the Forces of Croatia have besieged Bihats, a considerale Place belonging to the Turks, on the Frontiers of that Country; And General Staremberg is to command a Flying Camp to cover the Siege, if there be occasion. The War between the Moscovites and the Tartars, gives the Turks a great Diversion, and will much weaken their Army in Hungary. The last Advices from Adrianople say, the Grand Signior would set out from thence about the 20th of this month on his Journey towards Belgrade.

Kinsale, May 28. On the 23d came in here His Majesties Ship the Thunderbolt, Capt. Hopson, from Milford; and the Speedwell, Capt. Wivell, from Waterford. The 26th came in the Dover, and brought with him a Scotch Ketch of about 30 Tuns, laden with Wine from France.

Dublin, May 31. The Lord Marquis of Winchester, and the Earl of Galway, Lords-Justices of this Kingdom, are arrived here; They came from Holyhead about 8 a Clock last night, in the Soestdyke Yacht, convoyed by His Majesty's Ship the Penzance, and were in the Bay of Dublin about 10 this morning; Their Lordships landed about 4 in the afternoon, and went directly to the Council-Chamber, where they were Sworn, and from thence proceeded to the Castle, the Earl of Meath carrying the Sword of State before them; My Lord Chancellor, who came over with their Lordships, landed about an hour before them, and being Sworn at the Council-Board in the usual manner, he afterwards administred the Oath to the Lords Justices. By Letters from Baltimore of the 27th Instant, we are informed, that the Expedition Pacquet-Boat is arrived there from Jamaica, and brings Advice, That the French Squadron commanded by the Sieur Pointi, was sailed from Petit-Guaves towards Porto-Bello or Cartagena, to endeavour to meet with the Galeons, but the Spaniards having had timely notice of the Enemy, would doubtless be well provided to receive them; And the Squadron of Men of War commanded by Vice-Admiral [redacted] might be soon expected in those Parts. Nevil,

Port-Royal in Jamaica, April 2. We had Advice in the beginning of the last month, that a Squadron of French Ships, commanded by the Sieur Pointi, arrived the 23d of February at Petit-Guaves from France, being 9 Men of War, and one small Frigat, with some other Vessels; since which several Sloops having been sent out to get Intelligence, we are informed by them, That the French Fleet sailed from Petit-Guaves the 10th of the last month, in number about 26 great and small, with two Flags, and came afterwards to an Anchor under Cape Tiburaou on the West End of Hispaniola, where they continued till the 21th, and then sailed again; and 'tis thought here, they are gone for Cartagena or Porto-Bello; We are told by some Prisoners taken by one of our Sloops, that before the French sailed from Petit-Guaves there was a great Disorder among them, and 800 Buckaniers, who designed to go upon this Expedition, deserted Monsieur du Casr the French Governor, because he would not let them choose their own Officers, and the Quarrel went so far that several were killed in it. On the 21th past a Sloop which was sent to Porto-Bello with a Pacquet, returned hither, and brought an account, that he left the Galeons there, ready to sail; and they had Advice, that there were 3 French Men of War on that Coast, which 'tis believed here, are the same that were seen about the middle of February on the Northside of this Island, commanded by the Sieur d'Augers.

Newcastle, June 1. This morning came to the Bar above 100 Sail of Light Ships, with 4 Men of War; and the Laden Fleet that are now here, are getting ready to sail with this Convoy.
